11 Annual Nordic Spirit Symposium

February 5-6 at California Lutheran University

"Scandinavian Spirit of Discovery"

Scandinavians did not stop their far-flung adventures just because the Viking Age came to an end - they pushed on as restless seekers, adventurers and explorers. Their landmark accomplishments from the 18th to the 21st century will be celebrated.

"The Nordic Explorers: From Polar Frontiers to the Silk Road will feature distinguished speakers and polished performers, as well as lively visuals and videos. This year's theme will center around adventurers such as Norwegian hero Fridtjof Nansen, born in 1861, the greatest of all polar explorers who was also a diplomat and humanitarian, receiving the Nobel peace Prize in 1922 for his work as a League of Nations High Commissioner. Tommy Dickey of the Ocean Physics Laboratory at UC Santa Barbara will take a look at Nansen's "inspirational life." Two Norwegian women, Kristin Folsland Olsen and Ingeboerg Tollefsen, will present "Baffin Babes - 80 days on Skis in the Arctic." In 2009, four Scandinavian girls experienced a winter adventure on Baffin Island in the Canadian Arctic. The two Norwegians will talk about the challenges, showing pictures and videos from the trip.

The Symposium begins Friday evening and continues until after the banquet on Saturday. You can enjoy parts or come to all of the events. Each activity is priced separately.
